Keith Britton

Mr. Britton was first elected in 2006 to the Oviedo City Council. He began serving the citizens of Oviedo in 1998 with an appointment to the City' Board of Adjustments until 1999 when he joined the City's Land Planning Agency. While a member of the LPA he served as vice chairman, in 2005.

Since being elected to office, Britton actively supports the Florida League of Cities (FLoC) and completed its training, in 2007, at the Institute of Elected Municipal Officials as well as the training at the Advanced Institute of Elected Municipal Officials. He also completed training conducted by the Central Florida Domestic Security Task force for the Incident Command System for Executive Officials.

Mr. Britton holds a Bachelor of Science in Engineering (Mechanical Engineering Option) from UCF ('83); a Master of Science in System Management from Florida Institute of Technology ('91); a Master of Science in Engineering and Management from MIT('03) and additional engineering and project management training from University of Southern California and Harvard University's Kennedy School of Government.

Mr. Britton worked for Rockwell International as a quality control inspector on the Space Shuttle Columbia in preparation for the maiden launch of the Space Shuttle in 1980. He worked for McDonnell Douglas, at the Kennedy Space Center, as an engineer supporting the Space Shuttle Return to Flight effort following the Challenger accident and later as a project manager supporting the early planning effort of the International Space Station. In 1990 he was hired by NASA as a project manager to support a variety of different programs including the Space Shuttle, International Space Station, the Future Interagency Range and Spaceport Technology (FIRST) Program, and the agency's new Exploration Program. He currently holds the position of Lead Project Manager for Planning and Integration at the Center's Operations Directorate.

Mr. Britton has been the Council's representative on the Economic Development Committee; and is currently the council representative on the Parks and Recreation Advisory Committee; the Council of Local Governments in Seminole County (CALNO), and the Community Service Block Grant Advisory Committee (CSBG). He supports Oviedo's annual Relay for Life events and the City's annual Martin Luther King Celebration and takes part in the Seminole County Schools "Teacher for a Day" Program.

Britton has lived in Central Florida for over 35 years. He and his wife Regina moved to Oviedo in 1990 where they continue to be involved in many community activities.
